

03. through the communication network to contact lens sellers, users, and ophthalmology examining departments, respectively. The transmitter/receiver of the first information processing apparatuses transfers information on registration number, specified department of ophthalmology, contact lens price, and money paying deadline to the second information processing apparatuses, and information on registration number and name to the third information processing apparatuses. The transmitter/receiver of the second information processing apparatuses transfers information on a contract application to the first information processing apparatuses. The third information processing apparatuses transfer registration number, name, selling date, contact lens information, and eyeball diagnosis information only to the first information processing apparatuses.

---